

The Square Deal Sale

A few people have surprised us somewhat by asking if the Aluminum Saucepan Special we are advertising is genuine Wear-Ever. In one sense we feel complimented that they should think the bargain looked almost too good to be true, but a matter of much more importance to us is to have the public understand definitely and conclusively, once and for all that

What we say in our ads descriptive of our goods and prices is strictly and literally true

Occasionally a printer's error will creep in. In fact, we notice a 5c error in last week's paper in this same ad. for the Wear-Ever Special we are just talking about, but that is obviously a typographical error, a very different matter from making a misleading statement. When you know us a little better you will realize that when a bargain is advertised over McPherson Bros. name it is a real bargain and you can't afford to miss it. This sale will convince you. When you see something advertised that appeals to you don't waste time wondering about it, grab it before someone else does.

Wearever Aluminum Tea Kettle

Seamless throughout, sheet spout, tight fitting lid, no hinge to get out of order, adjustable handle. It is estimated that a Wear-ever kettle will outlast and outwear 10 of the average enamel kettles. It will not chip or crack. At ordinary heats it is not injured if allowed to go dry on the stove, as it takes intense heat to melt it. You may drop it or throw it as far and as hard as you like without injuring it. You may dent it perhaps, but the dent is easily removed and the kettle is none the worse—it's a Wearever kettle.

THE GREAT STRIKE IN ENGLAND

Miners Refuse to Accept Lloyd George's Proposal.

London, April 8.—Leaders of the National Federation of Transport Workers and of the National Union of Railwaymen, which organizations have voted to support the miners in the great coal strike, decided this morning upon a strike by the two unions. This brings the entire power of the "triple alliance of labor" into the greatest industrial controversy in England for many years.

Official announcement that the "triple alliance" had decided upon a strike, was made shortly after noon today.

A general strike of the railroads and transport workers will be called unless the striking miners and the owners of British coal pits reach a settlement.

After the consultation between the transport workers and the railroad men, J. H. Thomas, a leader of the railroads, emerged from the conference room appearing much distressed.

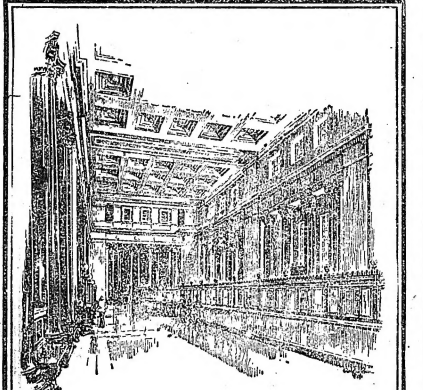

"The triple alliance strike has been decided upon," he declared. "It will be controlled by the joint executive committees of the three bodies, which will meet this afternoon to take charge and make necessary arrangements."

The miners assembled at 2.30 o'clock, to consider the government's reply to their refusal to accept.

It was understood that in his reply Premier Lloyd George asked the miners to meet the owners at 3 p.m.

The answer of the miners was that the condition laid down, providing that the safety of the mines must first be discussed stood in the way of the resumption of the negotiations.

"There's a sort of a pump on your chest," said the tailor, bumping in his new trousers, "but we won't make the clothes so that you will not realize the bump is there. 'I know you will,' sighed the customer. 'That's my pocketbook in my inside pocket.'"

HOSPITAL DISTRICT SCHEME MEETS WITH RATEPAYERS' FAVOR

Meeting Wednesday Night Endorsed Council's Action in Joining District, and Appointed Commissioner Stephenson to Provisional Board.

The whole hospital scheme was discussed at a fairly well attended meeting of the Red Deer Hospital District, which was held on Wednesday evening. Acting Mayor Ald. Broughton occupied the chair and explained the purpose of the meeting. The City Council was anxious that there should be a full and frank discussion of the hospital proposal by the ratepayers. Arthur Whitson, Secretary of the Hospitals Branch, Department of Municipalities and Health, Edmonton, was present, and addressed the meeting, outlining the purpose and scope of the Municipal Hospital Act, and the early organization of the ratepayers.

The development of the movement in this territory has come as the result of initiative taken by the surrounding territory largely. It has not been engineered by the city in any way.

The chairman stated the object of the meeting directly was the consideration of the hospital scheme, and to decide whether the Council had any right in taking the action it did regarding the hospital scheme.

Following Mr. Whitson's address, the Mayor moved that the City Council be authorized to join the hospital scheme, and to appoint a Commissioner to represent the City on the Provisional Board.

Mr. Whitson's address was a most interesting one, and he outlined the history of the hospital scheme, and the progress it had made in other municipalities.

After the petitions and resolutions were received the organization of the hospital scheme was discussed, and the City Council was asked to determine whether the boundaries were normal, and that they had the general consent of the people.

THE TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS OF A NEWSPAPER MAN.

The following corrections appeared in a recent issue of the Rocky Mountain House Gazette:

"We take this opportunity to make further corrections that occurred in items in another recent issue. Firstly, The malady which caused the sad death of O. H. Foreman was 'pleuro' (not 'pleur') pneumonia. Secondly, March 5th, instead of March 6th, was the date of the birth of Mr. and Mrs. S. Taylor's infant daughter was Sunday, March 6th. Thirdly, it was 'Chas.' Thompson, not 'Ross' Thompson, who was to remain in Nordegg until April 1st. Now these corrections cast reflections on either the worthy editor or his devil, but are merely the result of a misguided attempt on the part of the scribe to transmit news items by long distance telephone on a cold, stormy day when the wires were crossed."

DEVELOPMENT OF MAN ABLY DISCUSSED BY H. F. LAWRENCE

hence the early life in trees, where their grasping organs and swift movements stood them in good stead. Dread of stronger beasts of prey quickened their wits and compelled unity. Any favorable variation in the structure of brain secured an advantage over rivals in the struggle of life. Thus through inheritance from generation to generation man gained ascendancy over even the highest apes. In both, the social bonds were strengthened by the helplessness and dependence of their young, which evoked qualities of sympathy and affection.

Intellect is a survival factor, but the moral qualities are stronger than mere intelligence. The first moral quality developed was man's care for children. Parental solicitude was necessarily the chief factor of race survival. Generally speaking, too, the more lengthy the infant stage, the more intelligent the animal. In the infant, in its slow development, crawling on the floor, repeating what its ancestors were doing a million years ago; the human frame learned gradually to stand and walk. All creatures change their form with the times. There is an instinctive clinging to life and the evolutionary law of the universe is confirmed—"Conform or perish."

Man's great brain development is due to his all round activities, and his superior physical development. An examination of the brain shows that the difference between the brain of a savage and the brain of civilized man is far greater than it is between that of such savages and the higher apes.

The origin of social life commenced with family relationship. It extended to groups of families, then tribal communities, and finally nations. Language, a social institution, was necessary to man in the successful raising of his young and to the developing functions of his life.

A solitary man can lose the power of expression. Nature compelled man to utter first sounds. Then names were assigned as combinations of sounds. At first in mystic bond linked words and thoughts together, utility and convenience joined them. Language with the lower animals remains at the instinctive stage. Human speech transmits and preserves the experiences of one generation to the next for guidance and gain.

Using this power of speech we visualize the prehistoric man with his means of defence except hands and teeth, without weapons, tools or fire. He was without hope or imagination, for which experience is necessary. He learned through hunger and through cold, through physical suffering and disappointment, and the higher attributes of attempted self-control. He lived by his wits, killed and ate his prey in self defence, and he fed himself and his mate. His sight and hearing were sharpened by the common need and common peril. The earth's surface was his telephone. He lived by the food, starvation might come the next day. He was incapable of grouping his ideas under what we term "general facts." Gradually he learned to make comparisons and began to reason cause and effect in nature around him. It required the accumulated experiences of many lives to evolve our modern conception of universal law and order. It took centuries to correct the first savage impressions of man's senses and facts. First, he learned the knowledge of the prey and he fought, then the elemental differences in things such as the sliding of stone and the floating of wood. Time and again he was fooled. His senses told him the wrong way and the echoes were made by answering spirits. Thus a great sequential chain couples human life to its distant past. We look back and yet we feel the no less reality of that future unknown state which gathers to itself the intangible essence we term the soul of man which has through all the ages governed man's life.

The subconscious searching, for light which slowly penetrated the awakening brain of those ancient eons is still within every generation. It is striving to gather definite truth from those material and spiritual experiences which are developing the progress of the race. Seeking! Seeking! Each individual adding to the light which the glory of man's life is sweeping by.

From man's first Pagan prayer can be traced the struggling dawn of hope which grew, grew, grew. From Pagan prayer developed a spiritual awakening and from it sprung faith to life on earth, a crown and victory. Thus a great sequential chain couples human life to its distant past. We look back and yet we feel the no less reality of that future unknown state which gathers to itself the intangible essence we term the soul of man which has through all the ages governed man's life.

The subconscious searching, for light which slowly penetrated the awakening brain of those ancient eons is still within every generation. It is striving to gather definite truth from those material and spiritual experiences which are developing the progress of the race. Seeking! Seeking! Each individual adding to the light which the glory of man's life is sweeping by.

Man rated as a social being when he began to dwell in villages and erected huts for his habitation. A trader and was buried with his children. He hoped for immortality. He was learning discipline and organization.

The civilized attributes are comparatively recent, the structural and moral qualities are very old. A succession of men far above the average in original capacity has been and still are necessary to the great benefit to the men of genius who have been the veritable foremen of God.

Man's great brain development is due to his all round activities, and his superior physical development. An examination of the brain shows that the difference between the brain of a savage and the brain of civilized man is far greater than it is between that of such savages and the higher apes.

The origin of social life commenced with family relationship. It extended to groups of families, then tribal communities, and finally nations. Language, a social institution, was necessary to man in the successful raising of his young and to the developing functions of his life.

halt, civilization halts. When industry fails, and thus loses the nation's initiative, civilization is endangered and another great drama falls.

Rome fell from inward rotteness; our own empire is threatened. The timely appearance of that long past crisis of One whose deep conviction obscured the genius of his teachings, reversed the downward trend of civilization: now may escape a long winter if we remember that advancement calls for efficiency in the common affairs of life. There is today a pursuit of worthless superficiality, with corresponding neglect to build up the essentials of sound character by our teaching profession. We will reap the results of what we sow.

As long as the human race has known that death is man's earthly destiny, he has sought for immortality. The mystery of man's departure from life is not greater than the advent of all life. Science proves that the fate of all material matter is universal. Neither to life or death can come final rest; what remains finished further life begins. A marvellous resurrection awaits the body and man seeks a future for his soul.

There is ample proof of the spirit's consciousness and undoubted individuality, yet we have not knowledge of its survival except by processes of deductive reasoning. We will soon more fully recognize that there exists a sympathetic operating affinity between the spirit, the brain and the body. There can occur capacity of that spirit apart from the virility of body or brain. Accepting this unproven "the infinity" that surrounds our lives, also that nothing is vacuum in space, there is a life eternal.

From man's first Pagan prayer can be traced the struggling dawn of hope which grew, grew, grew. From Pagan prayer developed a spiritual awakening and from it sprung faith to life on earth, a crown and victory. Thus a great sequential chain couples human life to its distant past. We look back and yet we feel the no less reality of that future unknown state which gathers to itself the intangible essence we term the soul of man which has through all the ages governed man's life.

The subconscious searching, for light which slowly penetrated the awakening brain of those ancient eons is still within every generation. It is striving to gather definite truth from those material and spiritual experiences which are developing the progress of the race. Seeking! Seeking! Each individual adding to the light which the glory of man's life is sweeping by.

CITY COUNCIL

of the nuisance ground land and applied it to reduce the 1920 note which is now $24,000.00.

6. We submit by-law authorizing the sale of lots 3-6, block D, West Park, acquired by tax in contravention to John Moseley for $100.00. There is no commission payable to anyone on this sale.

7. We propose making a survey of the streets and sidewalks in the city as soon as possible, recommending what work should be done. At present Foreman Jones is making crossings as rapidly as possible, but not getting the main streets dragged.

8. Commissioner Stephenson recommended the purchase of a Ford truck with dump box and cord tires at a cost of $1,100.00, laid down, and believes that it will save the cost in two years. The great amount of auto traffic necessitates much greater expenditure on maintenance than a few years ago, and dirt roads cannot be kept in even fair condition until they are gravelled. Victoria Ave., 1st St. E. and Ross St. E. should all be gravelled as soon as possible, and as much as possible of this work should be done this year. During the summer it is necessary to keep the city team on the road, and water cart most of the time, to keep the main streets in condition and the dust nuisance down. The merchants who pay heavy business taxes insist on this, and the team has also to be used to carry construction and repair material around the city. In hauling material a motor truck should do twice the amount of work at one half the cost. It is necessary to have a team for a motor truck where we cannot use a team.

9. We recommended the C. P. Railway that we would recommend to the Council the supplying of water to the city with one year's notice at meter rates as charged by Calgary. The reply of the company is submitted.

10. The street grade plans were received back from the Townsite Commission and were sent to the Registrar of Lands at Edmonton for registration.

11. We submit statement of receipts and disbursements for March.

12. We submit departmental reports for March.

13. We submit accounts for your authorization to pay.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

DR. J. COLLISON,
A. T. STEPHENSON, Commissioners.

Discussion took place on Clause 8, and the Mayor was dubious as to whether the city could maintain the street grade. He thought the upkeep would be too heavy. Mr. Stephenson said that the city could maintain the street grade. He thought the upkeep would be too heavy. Mr. Stephenson said that the city could maintain the street grade.

95: Hugh McLevin, $17.50; Imperial Bank (for T. A. Gault) $100; A. Frye, $50; Mrs. Taylor, $2.75; John Percival, $20; $24.00; Western General, $1,500.00; Bank of Montreal, $1,193.13; Sec. Workmen's Compensation Board, $5; Sec. Treas. Public School, $500.00; B. Blakeley, $10.75; Western General, $751.35; Gault-Cornett Co., $4.35; Stano & Balnes, $102.00; Red Deer Advocate, $10.25; Sec. Treas. Fire Brigade, $138.50; Douglas Co. Ltd., $24.92; W. Spry, $7.75; Chas. Sinclair, $7.85.

Mr. Carscadden approached the Council to know if the City was in a position to sell Englewood or to rent the property.

The Commissioner said the City was not in a position to sell at the present time. The Mayor said he would like to see the property cleaned up, and hoped that would be done in the near future. The Commissioner thought there was about sixty acres could be sold on the property and he thought it should sell for $75 an acre at least. That would pay the costs against it.

Mr. Carscadden would like the property placed outside the municipality. He did not feel disposed to pay the taxes. He felt that he could not pay $75 an acre as he could not make that out of it.

The Council thought the property at $75 an acre was a low price for the property surrounding Red Deer.

Mr. Carscadden made the Council a proposition of $50 per acre for the property.

Ald. Broughton said this would not pay the taxes against the property. The Council did not feel disposed to take this figure and may ask for teners.

The question of a small addition to D. B. Ross' store came up.

Ald. Best said other buildings had been built, such as a shed in the rear of Brumpton & Gault's store, and a building moved into the fire limit on the north end, and nothing was said about it.

The Commissioner said this was not correct, as a permit was given for the Brumpton & Gault's shed, and the Council permitting the other building to be moved into the fire limit.

The Mayor said the Council could deal with this case on its merits. He would like to see the request of Mr. Ross granted. It had been before the Council previously and his sympathy went out to Mr. Ross.

Moved by Ald. Stone and Best that Mr. Malcom's request for the addition to the building occupied by Mr. Ross be granted, building $20 to be paid or deducted from carried over. Turnbull voting against the motion.

The Council decided to adjourn to Tuesday evening, April 12th, to discuss the building by-law.

The use of the city hall for a police court case was allowed for Wednesday.

Ald. Stone was appointed deputy mayor for the next three months.

Commissioner A. T. Stephenson was unanimously approved Red Deer's representative on the Hospital District Board.

Council adjourned at 11:25 p.m.

ALBERTA DAIRYMEN'S
ASSOCIATION ISSUES
NEW REGULATIONSCream Stations Are Now Required to Exercise Greater Care—Local Creameries Will Benefit.In an interview with a member of the Dairymen's Association, The News was informed that the grade of Alberta butter has been steadily lowering in the last year or two. The blame for this is laid to carelessness in handling cream and the practices followed at many cream stations. Creamery men cannot make No. 1 butter without No. 1 cream. No. 1 cream is an impossibility if rotten cans are used or the product is exposed unduly to heat or other depreciable elements.

The situation was created during the war, by the anxiety of large city creameries to get every available pound of cream. The planting of cream stations threatened to disrupt local creamery enterprises entirely.
Certainly, with a perishable commodity such as cream, it is reasonable to expect that it should be manufac-ed as near home as possible, and that the man who locates close to a creamery should enjoy some advantages in prices that do not come to the man who ships his cream from a distance, and so has an inferior quality by the time it reaches the dairy.

The new regulations will help local creameries to secure a supply of cream sufficient for them to operate effectively. Many cream stations will be put out of business.
Fifteen of the largest creamery operators in Alberta have signed an agreement, of which the following are some of the outstanding characteristics:
No company shall have in its employ more than six salaried agents, exclusive of branch creamery managers.

Commissions to be paid to operators of testing stations shall not exceed 3 1/2 cents per pound butter fat from November to April, and 2 1/2 cents from May to October. The company furnishes the equipment and the agent furnishes the building.
Loss in butter fat in excess of one per cent, is deducted from the agent's commission. And all agents are required to comply with the provisions of the Dairymen's Act.
Direct shipment agents receive a commission of not more than 25 cents per eight-gallon can, and 15 cents per five-gallon can, and no other bonus or consideration. A direct shipment is defined as a shipment of a can of cream from a producer to a creamery to be weighed, graded and tested at the creamery, and payment issued therefrom.

Transferring of cream from a producer's can to one owned by the company at shipping point is prohibited.
The companies refuse to loan any cans to producers; a reward of five dollars is offered for proof of a can having been loaned. Cans may be sold to patrons with payment of not less than one dollar per can deducted from payment for each shipment.
Cost of hauling shall be borne exclusively by the producer. Where inland stations are maintained, regular station prices are to be paid with the cost of haulage deducted and so shown on the statement issued.

All creamery companies are required to notify the association of points where salaried agents are to be maintained.
Swiping of agents or travellers is prohibited, unless 30 days intervene between leaving one company and engaging with another. All disputes or charges are to be settled by arbitration.
Altogether, the new changes are to the benefit of the man who gets his cream into the creamery in the best possible condition, as soon as possible after milking is completed. The effect will be evident in the quality of the product that will be manufactured and the market improved thereby.

"Oh, Henry," exclaimed the wife, as she threw her arms rapturously about his neck, "I do love you! Don't forget to leave me a couple of pounds when you go to town this morning.
Will you, dear?" "And this," muttered Henry, softly disengaging himself from her embrace, "this is what you might call being hard pressed for money."

THIS BETTER STORE OF YOURS

This store is no less yours because we happen to be owners of it. It is yours for fullest and complete use and service at all times—yours because you have made it so. In a still broader sense it is yours because you have created it by being a part of this community, developed its policy by your desires and continued it in healthy activity by your patronage. When it is not "your store" its decay will have begun, for it will then be less of a store than it is today, while it is enjoying your frequent visits. We know that it is a constantly better store because it is constantly making new friends and customers, while closely retaining the confidence of those it has served in the past. Not a day passes in which we do not study how to make it still better.

The Key To Prosperity

An Advertisement to Young Men

Carnegie, Hill, Rockefeller—financiers who have succeeded in a marked degree—say that the key to prosperity is the ability to save in youth.

The first few thousands of capital are the most difficult to secure. But to get them is worth the hardest effort and most patient sacrifice.

John Wanamaker laid the foundation of his colossal fortune with the proceeds of his endowment insurance policies.

No other method of saving has been found superior to the endowment policy. It involves almost compulsory saving, yet if taken out in The Mutual Life with the splendid annual dividends applied to reduce the premiums, the policy is not difficult to carry. Certainly not too difficult for a young man who is determined to succeed.

At the end of the term of the policy—say 10 years, 15 years, or 20 years—the principal is available for re-investment. It becomes a partner to toil night and day for you and to help you to success.

Forty-three Older Boys and Mentors attended the C.S.E.T. Leadership Training Camp held at Sylvan Lake last summer. Fifty Mentors and one hundred Older Boys are expected at similar camps to be held this summer. An Older Boys' Provincial Parliament was held in the Legislative Building, Edmonton, December 28th-30th, 1920. It was attended by forty-seven representatives from every part of Alberta. Talks and demonstrations of C.S.E.T. work have interested fifty-six students of Provincial Agricultural Colleges to go out to promote this type of boys' work in rural districts.

Great credit is due to the Board for the work it has accomplished in the brief time it has been organized. It gives promise of reaching out to the entire teen age boyhood of the province, and deserves the hearty support of all persons interested in boy life. Mr. G. D. Stant, M.L.A., is Chairman of the Board, and Mr. A. M. Peters, Bank of Montreal, Calgary, is the Treasurer. The Board requires $1,500.00 to complete its budget for the year's work. Subscriptions to this end may be sent to the Treasurer. Folders and information about boys' work and C.S.E.T. programs may be had by writing to 302 I.O.O.F. Building, Calgary.

THE FORDSON TRACTOR

Prof. Lund, agent for the Fordson Tractor, received the following letter last week:

In answer to your enquiries as to how we like the Fordson tractor, I may say that after using her for about a year at all kinds of work, I am thoroughly satisfied in every way. We have used her since the first of the winter, and she has broken in the stumps, did all our haying with an 8 foot Massey-Harris binder, pulled up a lot of trees and heavy willow bushes, and ran 2 1/2-16 ton tandem cow hitches, also hauled some grain over very hilly roads. We also used her on the buzz saw and she works time. I may say suitable plow, as we used about 2 1/2 ton and 2 1/2 tons of coal oil per acre, and about a quart of cylinder oil per ten hours. She plowed about 2000 ft. of heavy plowing on breaking about 2 1/2 to 3 gallons of coal oil per acre, and the whole year we put in the transmission one pint of oil.

My boy 13 years old ran her most of the time. The only adjustment we found over our horses was plowing in the heat and flies in the summer and night plowing at nights with electric lights.

Our only repairs were four bolts on the driver and a new tire, and in good shape to start out the year.

CANADIAN VIMY
MEMORIAL CHURCH

Dear Mr. Editor—

Your readers have certainly heard of the plan to build at Lens, France, a Vimy Memorial Church, as a sacred memorial to the 60,000 Canadians fallen in Northern France during the great war, and a gift to the Protestants of that country, who have lost one hundred and fifty of their church buildings in the invaded area, and are in the direst straits to rebuild them.

The ministers of your city were asked to take an offering for this scheme on the 14th of November last, but ministers are often shy of appealing for money from their congregations, and no contribution has so far come from your city.

We feel that we cannot rest until we have put the question squarely to the laymen of your city and asked them if they are satisfied that their city should remain outside of this national movement.

We would suggest that a returned officer take the lead and arrange a meeting of ministers and laymen to discuss the question and, if possible, an offering should be taken at the church on the 10th of April, which corresponds to the fourth anniversary of the Vimy Ridge victory, or on one of the following Sundays, or that a house to house visitation be organized by a local committee. Offering envelopes may be sent on application, from the headquarters of the Vimy Memorial Church Campaign, 740 University Street, Montreal.

If no local committee can be constituted, private subscriptions might be sent to the Honorary Treasurer, Brig. General J. G. Ross, C.M.G., 142 Notre Dame St. West, Montreal.

Your city will certainly join in this patriotic and Christian enterprise, and earn the honor of having its name inscribed on the list of Canadian cities and towns which have contributed to the erection of the Canadian Vimy Memorial Church.

Yours sincerely,

ALLAN P. SHAFPORT, Chairman.

CHARLES BIEBER, Secretary.

RIDGEWOOD

On Saturday evening a meeting, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. Moore for the purpose of deciding the best ways and means for the purchase of a piano, proposed some time ago by a local social committee, and through whose efforts the sum of $150.00 had been raised from the proceeds of dances, box socials, etc. In order to have wider scope, with increased strength, it was decided that further organization was necessary and culminated in the meeting forming a club to be known as the Ridgewood Social Club, with the following officers: D. Martin, President; W. Findlay, Secretary; G. W. Griffith, Treasurer. Executive committee, V. Moore, A. W. Martin, Tom Sigurdson, J. G. Mayberry, W. R. Griffith, and W. Scott, with some of the ladies to be added to the committee at the next meeting. The object of the club will be to promote and stimulate the social life of the community, which has been tremendously handicapped for the want of a proper musical instrument. The piano is being purchased from Mason & Rich of Calgary, and will be placed in the school at the service of the community.

The Social Club are putting on a concert, with a box social and dance, in the school house, on Friday evening, April 8th, with the best of music, the new piano will be part of the orchestra. Ladies are requested to kindly provide boxes. Everybody will be made cordially welcome, and are given assurance of a good time, as this will be the last big blowout before leaving the school at the close of the evening, April 8th.

ROCKY MOUNT'N HOUSE

The boxing match held here on April 1st was somewhat of an event. This was the first boxing match ever held in our burg. The contestants were Kid Shaw, of Rodege, and Mike Cassidy, of Edmonton. The bout went the full 12 rounds, and was a real good exhibition. Cassidy's footwork was extra good, and he would not doubt have been awarded the decision, had he not fouled Shaw after the referee (Battling Davis), of being warned of Rodege's crookedness for May 1st, 1921.

Inconsistency—It was the appointed hour, but the lecturer did not appear. The occupants of the lecture hall were beginning to show signs of impatience. Suddenly the managing director of the establishment made his appearance on the platform. "Ladies and gentlemen," he said in apologetic tones. "I am sorry to have to inform you that the lecture on the subject 'How to keep fit,' will have to be postponed for another day, owing to the unexpected indisposition of the lecturer."

Elsie had often been reprimanded by her mother for her eagerness to begin her dinner before grace had been said. But it came as a shock to all present when Jimmy, her brother, who had to ask grace, took it upon himself to administer a gentle reproof. "For what we are about to receive," he said gravely, "and for what Elsie has already eaten, make us truly thankful!"

Julia: Now tell the truth. You men like the talkative women as much as you do the others." Jack: "What others?"

AN AGRICULTURAL SENSATION

A considerable stir has been created in a district lying within an easy day's journey of Calgary by news of a curious discovery made by a young farmer. Details are at present somewhat vague, but the story must therefore be received with a certain amount of reserve. It appears that the farmer in question is a recently returned soldier who served with the British forces in one of the eastern theatres of the war. So serious his attention was attracted by a crop raised by the natives of the country for the support of their cattle and goats. The crop resembles a very luxuriant clover with a pale pink flower. The country in which it is raised is of an extremely dry character with little or no summer rainfall, and the raising of the crop is dependent on a carefully system of irrigation by means of snowfed mountain streams falling into the plains where the crops are raised. The water supplied from this source is carefully conserved and elaborated by artesian wells and draining over the land brought under cultivation. The result is to make the crop resemble a very luxuriant clover, and the quality of the honey produced there, and bee-keeping is an important factor in the inhabitants of the district. It is, however, another aspect of the matter which gives this crop its very interesting character. The whole of the water distributed over the ground is not absorbed, and there is a considerable surplus of it, which, after passing over or through the growing crop, flows off at the foot of the gentle slopes on which the crops are raised. It is here caught and after being strained to get rid of impurities, it is found to have acquired the qualities of a very palatable drink of a distinctly intoxicating character. Whether this is due to the presence of so much honey in the crop or to some other cause is not known. The natives of the district in question are a backward type, and the analyst or scientific farmer is unknown among them. Their only consideration is that by this means they can raise a valuable crop of feed for their herds and obtain a cheap and effective drink for themselves.

The soldier in question was struck by the possibilities of this crop, and with considerable difficulty and at great expense he obtained a quantity of seed from one of the local farmers. On returning to Canada he determined to experiment with the crop on his farm, which lies in a somewhat dry part of this province, though in his particular case he is fortunate in having a small creek flowing through his land, with which he was able to create a system of irrigation similar to that in the east. The result was a complete success. The area planted with a portion of the seed so acquired yielded a crop far beyond the best that he has ever seen in any of his crops. He has, however, carefully collected a large quantity of seed and intends to put his whole available land under this crop next season. It is not this aspect of the matter, however, which is attracting the greatest attention. The farmer in question also collected the surplus water, strained it, and found that its quality was precisely as it had been in the country of its invention. He therefore bottled a considerable quantity, and is now enjoying in one more point of advantage over his neighbors. It appears extremely doubtful if the liquor act can be made to apply to such a case. On the other hand, it is out of the question that in such a predominantly agricultural country as Alberta, the raising of such a valuable crop can be permanently prohibited in order to gratify the unreasonable fanaticism of a minority of gloomy bigots. On the other hand, it is a matter of practical impossibility to prohibit the collection of the surplus water and its use as a drink, or to enforce the prohibition of its use. It is possible to forbid its sale, but just as in the case of the Game Laws, where the prohibition of sale does not prevent a wide distribution and consumption of game, so in this case it would seem that the prohibition of sale of the liquor will not be able to prevent its distribution amongst a prohibition-resistant public. In the meantime the introducer of the crop to the province is being subjected to an increasingly harassing volume of attention from that public. He is besieged with offers to purchase seed for next spring's sowing to such an extent that instead of bringing an occasional letter home from the post-office in his pocket, he is compelled to use a bulky sack and to carry it in his demagogue. Moreover, callers have become so numerous as to be a nuisance, for his farm has become a place of pilgrimage for all stock farmers who have suffered from the prevailing feed shortage, and for many others, who are not farmers and whose shortage is not a question of feed. Several attempts have been made to steal the precious seed, so much so that the owner has had to hire two additional hands to keep a continuous guard over the cellar in which it is kept. The opinion of counsel as to the legal aspect of the case is being taken and further developments will be awaited with considerable interest.

NOT HARD TO SATISFY

A New York state farmer has recently written the following letter to the weather bureau:

"Dear Sir: I wish you would let me know what kind of weather we are going to have for the next three or four weeks, as my wife has a hen who wants to sit and she wants to no other to sit her or not. And she like to get the average for this period for the last 50 or 60 years if not two much trouble. And will you lend me a thermometer and a barometer so I can shut the chicken house door if the barometer looks threatening. And if convenient I would like you to telegraph me the weather forecast every morning until the chickens are off with the chickens and for a while after as chickens need lots of care when just hatched out."

Yrs. truly, WM. SPINER.

"P.S.—Please have the agriculture dept. send me some books on chicken."

"P.S.—Send me the thermometer and barometer by partial post."

HOSPITAL MAN
PRAISES TANLAC

Feels Like It Gave Him New Lease On Life, Declares Thomas W. White

"Tanlac has given me a new lease on life and I'm feeling just fine," said Thomas W. White, of 1890 Toucher St., Victoria, B.C. Mr. White was overseas for about two years with the army medical corps, and is now employed at the Jubilee hospital in Victoria.

"About two years ago my appetite failed, and I was suffering from all kinds of pains. My appetite was so poor that I ate little more than enough to keep on my feet, and some days I hardly tasted anything at all. At times even the sight of food would nauseate me, and whenever I did eat a little something it caused a heavy, depressed feeling in my stomach. I often had severe headaches and dizzy spells.

"There was such a terrible pain in the small of my back that many a night I didn't sleep more than two hours, and when I would get up in the morning I could scarcely move about or hardly stoop over to lace my shoes. I was so miserable I never felt like doing my work, and many a time it seemed like I would simply have to give up altogether.

"When a friend told me of the remarkable good Tanlac had done him I started taking it myself, and in a few days I was feeling just fine in every way. I have an excellent appetite and eat just as well as ever, and everything I want at any time and it doesn't trouble me a bit.

"I haven't had a headache since I started on the very first bottle, and that awful pain has entirely disappeared from my back. I sleep like a log every night and get up in the morning feeling refreshed and ready for a good day's work. I owe my present good health to Tanlac, and I'm mighty thankful for all it's done for me."

An old Highlander, rather fond of his glass, was ordered by his doctor not to exceed 1 ounce of spirits in the day. The old chap was a little dubious about the amount, and asked his boy, who was at school how much an ounce was. "An ounce," said the boy. "Why 16 drams, 1 oz." Sixteen drams! exclaimed the Highlander, with great delight. "Gave! No, said sixteen drams! Run and tell Tom and Big John to come down the neck!"
